Policy Regarding Copyright Infringement and Designation of a Copyright Agent

DunkMalaria.org ('DunkMalaria') respects the intellectual property rights of others and requires those that visit our Web Site to do the same. DunkMalaria may, in appropriate circumstances and at its discretion, remove or disable access to material on its Web Site that infringes upon the copyright rights of others. DunkMalaria also may, at its discretion, remove or disable links or references to an on-line location that contains infringing material or infringing activity.

If you believe that your work has been used on our Web Site in any manner that constitutes copyright infringement, please notify DunkMalaria's copyright agent by written notice or by email. The notice should include the following information:

- an electronic or physical signature of a person authorized to act on behalf of the owner of the copyright allegedly infringed
- a description of the copyrighted work you claim has been infringed, including a copy of the copyrighted work or the web page address where the copyrighted work may be found
- identification of the location on our Web Site of the material you claim has been infringed, or the link or reference to another Web Site that contains the material you claim has been infringed
- your name, address, telephone number and email address
- a statement by you that you have a good faith belief that the disputed use of the material at issue is not authorized by the copyright owner, the agent of the copyright owner or the law; and
- a statement by you, under penalty of perjury, that the information in this notification is accurate and that you are the copyright owner of the material allegedly infringed or authorized to act on the copyright owner's behalf.
